POLLOCK IS NAMED

The convention proceeded at once to business and upon motion of Judge Martin of Reno county the temporary organization was made permanent. No committees were appointed, but Judge Martin presented a plan for the conduct of the meeting. It was an agreed plan among the candidates and it was adopted without a dissenting voice. According to the agreed plan nominations began at once, each county being given five minutes for oratory in presenting their candidate.

J. B. Carlisle of Butler county presented the name of E. N. Smith in a very able speech in which he dwelt on the availability of Mr. Smith. He said that he was a solid citizen, a graduate of the University of Michigan, mayor of El Dorado for three terms and as a citizen and a lawyer was second to none.

John Calhoun Pollock of Cowley county was named in nomination by J. H. Buckman of Winfield, who made one of the most brilliant of the nominating speeches. Mr. Pollock's nomination was seconded by Hon. Charles E. Elliott of Lawrence, who made a speech brilliant with wit and humor. He predicted success for the Republican ticket from McKinley down and said that John Pollock would carry the law by 2,000 majority.

Fred Washington of Harper presented the name of Mr. George B. Croker of his county. His speech was eloquent and a little too long.
